American rapper, singer, songwriter, actor, and record producer, André “3000” Benjamin is one of the most revered, celebrated artists of the last three decades and his work continues to influence the cultural landscape on a global scale. His work as one half of the iconic hip-hop duo Outkast established a brand-new voice/style within rap, both sonically and visually in the early 90’s. In 2007, he launched a solo career and has contributed verses to hits by revered artists such as Beyoncé, Drake, Frank Ocean, John Legend, Jay-Z, and more. Alongside the music career, André also appeared in several films and TV series and gave his voice to Sunny Bridges in Class of 3000, an animated series on Cartoon Network.
